

Eudoxus is a digital innovative service (<http://eudoxus.gr>) for the immediate and integrated provision of university books to Higher Education students.

The process is fully automated and offers:

- Accurate online information about the provided university books for each course
- Quick delivery of university books
- Effective mechanisms for publishers' quick payment
- Public resources' abuse prevention

Targets achieved after three years of full function:

- A. Students receive their university books significantly faster and on time
- B. Minimized Administrative effort for Secretaries of the Higher Education Departments.
- C. Transactions between Ministry of Education and Publishers are simplified, since the need to Share documents – lists has been eliminated.
- D. Financial compensation of Publishers can be accomplished immediately after the delivery of university books.
- E. Significant cost reduction as any fraud attempt in the whole process is fully monitored and controlled.
- F. Significant human resources in services of Universities and Ministry of Education are saved.
- G. Matured conditions for the safe and gradual transition to the era of electronic university books.
